

“Quilled Spider” Template

You can find the video demo on this spider at <https://www.iSugarfy.com/quilled-cookies.html>

Notes:

- Use a medium-stiff consistency icing for this technique. If the icing is too stiff, you will not be able to pipe narrow arcs and circles. The tip would be about a #1 (I use parchment cones).
- Use a turntable: Cut out the spider and tape it to the turntable. Cover it with plastic. I use transparent page protectors, as they're a bit porous and the transfers dry faster.
- Pipe with your better hand, turn the table with the other. Always start in the center as shown in the video. Practice how far off the surface you have to lift the line in order to be able to get around an arch/circle. Hint: the wider it gets, the farther off you can lift it (not by much, though).
- After the first round, paint flood consistency icing over the piped lines as shown in the video, in order to hold the lines together. If you leave off this stage, you might break the transfer when moving it.
